

Your Handy Guide to Visitor Moorings, Water Points, Pump-Out and Elsan facilities along the River Nene (revised 01/04/2024)

Facilities provided by the Environment Agency (EA) for the use of boaters on the River Nene are free of charge unless otherwise stated. Charges may apply at other, non-EA operated sites and where possible the approximate nightly cost is shown. For ease of identification, sites have been colour coded. EA – Green : Council/Trust – Yellow : Clubs/FOTRN – Blue : Commercial – Red.

The location is shown by the grid code and ///what3words. Where a channel to enter the location is involved, ///what3words is showing the entrance to the location from the main river. Whilst every effort has been made to quantify the accuracy of the information when compiling this document, it is advisable when planning your trip to contact your proposed stop over locations prior to your arrival if possible, to ensure space will be available and the service meets your requirements.

EA Water Points

Our water points are fitted with the type of connection shown in this photograph to comply with the Water Supply (Water Fittings) Regulations 1999, as required by Anglian Water, the water supplier.

You will need your navigation key to operate our water points, plus a female push-fit connector to attach your hosepipe to the fittings.

We hope that you will find this quick guide useful. EA moorings are designed with your safety in mind, particularly for when river flows and levels may be higher than usual. Photographs may have been taken at quiet times so please be aware that Visitor Moorings can get very busy during the summer months. Make time to plan ahead and arrive in good time.

Local marinas, boat clubs, councils, some landowners, and other organisations all provide a variety of moorings, sanitary facilities, slipways, chandlery and fuel sales along the River Nene. Charges apply at some sites and where possible these have been included in this document. However, they may change so please check with the location, if possible, prior to your arrival. We hope you will enjoy cruising on the River Nene. Please remember to stay safe, be considerate to other river users, leave locks in the downstream position (pointed gates closed, guillotine raised) and take your rubbish to a correct disposal point.
